Word From Spain—and
Bangor, Me., Too

Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Jones of Radio Station KXAR are home from a trip to Spain, in the course of their journey picking up a gift for your editor.

It's an engraved Moroccan dagger in a miniature scabbard. The Jones' were in southern Spain close to British-held Gibraltar, and just across the narrow neck of the Mediterranean Sea lies Tangier, Morocco, where the dagger originated.

It looks the part, with a curved six-inch blade. But I'll disillusion you at once—the blade has no cutting edge whatever.

Presumably it's just what I am making it—a letter-opener.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones' travels will be told later in an interview and picture.

In Bangor, Maine, Haskell picked up two New England magazines I had never heard of and put them on my desk.

Both are marvelous production jobs, publicizing the New England mountains and coastline with fine color photography and text. The larger of the two is Down East, the Magazine of Maine, published monthly (10 times a year) at Camden, Maine.

The smaller magazine is Yankee, published monthly at Dublin, New Hampshire—in a smaller format but just as brilliantly composed as the large-format monthly.

I know one Hope couple who probably have seen copies of these magazines—Mr. and Mrs. Syd McMath, who spend their Summers visiting son Sidney in Boston. I'll check with them.

It takes a vigorous and well-to-do region to support restricted-area publications of the quality of Down East and Yankee—but then New England has a vast and lucrative tourist trade in Summer, plus skiing and ice sports as attractions in Winter.

I always know when Winter is approaching—the McMaths arrive down South just before snow flies in New England.

Being a fugitive myself from the rigors of a northern Pennsylvania Winter—Wilkes-Barre, Pa., usually hits 14 to 20 degrees below zero—I can well understand the flight South this time of year.

20 more charges on Starks

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

Twenty more charges were filed Monday against Billy Dean Starks, 36, of North Little Rock, who is charged with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and violations of the federal stolen property act in connection with a $613,000 shortage in the North Little Rock Police Pension and Relief Fund.

Starks appeared before U. S. Magistrate Michael J. Osman in Miami, Fla., Monday on the charges and bond totaling $300,000 was set.

The new charges against Starks, filed by Pros. Atty. Jim Guy Tucker of Little Rock, alleged violations of the state Securities Act, eight charges of obtaining valuables from the pension fund trustees by false pretense and one charge of counterfeiting corporate stocks. Two of the charges accuse Starks of dealing in corporate stocks when he was not registered to do so.

Anxious Congress faces snags

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $250-billion spending limit and a trimmed-down foreign aid bill loomed today as potential snags for legislators anxious to adjourn the 92nd Congress and get home to their re-election campaigns.

Some senators continued to insist that tight curbs be placed on any new power granted to President Nixon to hold down federal spending. They announced they will oppose the compromise worked out by House-Senate conferees near midnight Saturday and expected to pass the House today.

And the Senate chopped $515.4 million off the House's $4-billion spending authority for foreign aid, tossing the measure back for House reconsideration.

But a $6-billion Social Security-Medicare compromise was expected to get through, assuming both the House and Senate can muster quorums.

Campaigning absentees left the Senate short of a quorum Monday—the House took the day off—and the pressure of getting back to neglected campaigns offered Congress' best hope for speeding up settlements of the foreign aid and spending-limit bills.

Pessimists doubted, however, that Congress could adjourn before Wednesday night.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and other senators spoke out Monday against the spending-limit compromise which loosens Senate-passed restraints to give the President more authority over federal program cuts to meet the $250-billion limit.

Nixon requested unfettered authority to choose where cuts should be made.

"We are giving up our constitutional power of taxation and appropriation" with such bestowal of authority, Mansfield said.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Nixon does not need congressional approval to cut spending. He suggested that the President asked for Congress' okay in order to pose as an economic leader if he got it or the victim of a spendthrift Congress if he didn't.

"The President has set a political trap," Proxmire said. "Either way it goes, he will be the big political winner."

Kissinger in Paris

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's top national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, is back in Paris today meeting with North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy in another round of peace talks, the White House announced.

The peace talks are being resumed after a five-day break during which both sides consulted with their respective governments. It is Kissinger's 20th trip to Paris and 25th day of private talks in an effort to reach a settlement of the Southeast Asia conflict.

The White House said Kissinger left Washington Monday morning, while President Nixon was substituting for him in an appearance before the National League of Families of Prisoners of War and Missing in Action.

Light plane missing

Search widens for Rep. Boggs

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A small armada of private planes assembled in poor weather today to search Alaska's rugged southern coast for a light plane carrying House Majority Leader Hale Boggs and three others. The plane was long overdue and presumed down on a campaign flight for the state's only House member.

A heavy cloud cover and rain prevailed in the search area as some 30 planes prepared to join an electronically equipped Air Force HC130 on the rescue mission. The Air Force plane had flown an Anchorage-to-Juneau pattern through the night in search of the missing plane, which failed to show up late Monday on a 500-mile flight from Juneau.

A spokesman for the Air Force's Rescue Coordination Center said the forecast for today was for strong wind, an overcast and "very marginal flying weather."

Aboard the twin-engine Cessna 310 were Boggs, 58; Rep. Nick Begich, a 46-year-old Democrat; Begich's administrative assistant, Russell Brown, 37; and the pilot, 38-year-old Don E. Jenz.

Boggs' administrative assistant, Gary Hymel, said in Washington that the last radio contact with the plane came 12 minutes after takeoff Monday, when Jenz filed a flight plan. There was no sign of trouble.

"We assume that the airplane is down," an FAA spokesman said Monday night.

Boggs, who left Washington on Sunday and had been due to return this morning, had gone to Alaska to campaign for Begich, a native of Eveleth, Minn., who is seeking re-election to a second term.

Boggs' wife, Lindy, was the only member of the family at home in Bethesda, Md., Monday night.

As the word spread to Boggs' home state of Louisiana, there was an unmistakable ring of affection for the congressman. Edward Cocke stood solemnly on the sidewalk outside a New Orleans bar and said that Boggs is "our kind of people."

"It's kind of a Brooklyn area," Cocke said of the surrounding scene. "All kinds of people and Hale Boggs could fit right in with any of them."

At nearby St. Mary's Assumption Roman Catholic Church, the Rev. Reinhard Stump said prayers would be offered at services today.

"And the Sisters in the schools will ask the children to pray. But I guess we have to expect the worst," he added. Boggs was on the last leg of the lightning-quick fund-raising trip for Begich when the plane left Anchorage. It was scheduled to arrive at 8:30 p.m. EDT. A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the plane had enough fuel to last until around 8 p.m.

Maj. Patrick W. Whitaker, the pilot of the Air Force HC130 which flew the search mission throughout the night, said he had "heard nothing" from the missing plane and that visibility in the area "was zero."

Officials said the HC130 is capable of picking up locator beacon signals while flying at high altitudes above bad weather.

Kidnapping is reported

State, county and city police are searching today for an alleged kidnapper who was last seen on Main St. in Hope near the old railroad depot.

Ricky Britt, 19, of Gurdon was allegedly confronted at knife-point at Cottingham's Drive Inn in Prescott about 8:45 a.m. by a man who said he was a former acquaintance. According to the State Police, Britt stopped at the drive-in for a few minutes and went inside; upon returning to his car, he saw a man sitting in the front seat on the passenger side.

The man pulled a knife on Britt and told him to drive to Dallas, police said. Britt drove to Hope where the man told him to pull into Miller's Service Station at the intersection of Main and Third Sts. The man ordered Britt to follow him to the restroom, but Britt shoved the man down, police said, ran back to his car and drove off.

The man, wearing a black leather jacket, was last seen walking north on Main St.

Law enforcement officers were still combing sections of Hope in search for the man at prestime.

Sabotage charges not flatly denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's press secretary and campaign director have denounced assertions that administration aides were involved in political spying and sabotage against the Democrats.

But neither man flatly denied them.

"I will not dignify with comment stories based on hearsay, character assassination, and guilt by association," said White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Clark MacGregor, campaign director of the Committee for the Re-election of the President, said "all the dirt is being thrown" by the opposition to Nixon.

"The mud-slinging, the name-calling, the unsubstantiated charges, the innuendos, the guilt by association, the character assassination, the second-hand hearsay are all tactics exclusively employed by the McGovernites and their apologists," MacGregor said in a statement Monday.

He did not discuss the specific charges of administration-linked sabotage published by The Washington Post and Time magazine.

Instead, he refused to answer questions and rushed from the room after reading before newsmen and television cameras a statement assailing The Washington Post.

MacGregor did say that Donald H. Segretti, the Los Angeles lawyer said by the Post and by Time magazine to have been engaged in attempts to disrupt the campaigns of Democratic presidential candidates, has never been employed by the Committee for the Re-election of the President or its finance committee.

Ziegler said Segretti has never been an employee of the White House.

The Post has reported it was told that Dwight L. Chapin, Nixon's appointments secretary, was a contact with Segretti in a spying and sabotage operation aimed at the Democrats.

Time said it had learned Segretti was hired by Chapin and Gordon Strachan, another White House aide, to "subvert and disrupt Democratic candidates' campaigns."

Ziegler noted that Chapin already had described the Post account as "based entirely on hearsay ... and fundamentally inaccurate."

Ziegler said he had nothing to add to that, and that Chapin wouldn't have any further comment, either.

Special week in Hope

McGovern makes new sabotage charges in Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Campaigning before cheering crowds in Texas, Sen. George McGovern is accusing the Republicans of hiring "saboteurs" to disrupt the Democratic campaign and of running misleading television commercials to scare the voters.

McGovern's Texas managers said they were heartened by the response received by the Democratic presidential nominee Monday in speeches to a joint session of the state legislature in Austin, and to rallies that drew crowds estimated by police at 20,000 in Houston and 10,000 in San Antonio.

The South Dakota senator, winding up a nine-day campaign swing into 11 states, flies to Fort Worth for a rally today before returning to Washington to tape a half-hour speech on the economy.

In a statement today, he said White House aide John Ehrlichman's assessment that activities directed at the Democrats are standard American political pranks "is an attempt to escape responsibility by polluting the faith of the American people in government itself." "It fuels the smoldering cynicism abroad in our land and it deepens the disillusionment already felt by millions of Americans," McGovern said. "These ambitious men apparently will stop at nothing to preserve their own power. They would undermine the republic to save their House parking

Though almost everyone connected with the McGovern campaign in Texas concedes the Democratic nominee trails in the race for the state's 26 electoral votes, State Agriculture Commissioner John White, his co-chairman, says "the race is just getting started in Texas now." McGovern's speech to the legislature, in which he called for rejection and repudiation of "the strategy of fear pursued by those who seek only to preserve their own power," drew frequent applause though more of it came from galleries packed with youthful supporters than from the lawmakers themselves.

In San Antonio and Houston, McGovern said it is time for the people to have a president, saying that the board of directors of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. have a president now and "so do the 50 saboteurs who were hired to sabotage the Democratic campaign." McGovern said the Republicans are using a war chest of "tens of millions" to buy misleading television commercials. "Republican propagandists want to scare you into thinking I am a radical," McGovern went on. "They have a lying, deceitful television spot that says George McGovern wants to put 47 per cent of the people on welfare." "That is pure rubbish and these Republican propagandists know it is pure rubbish," he said, renewing his charge that Nixon has been responsible for an increase in welfare rolls from nine million to 15 million people.

The 'Big Mac' made verbal punches

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

President Nixon's campaign director, Clark MacGregor, has angrily denounced allegations of political espionage against the Nixon camp, while Sen. George McGovern has hurled the charges anew.

MacGregor said: "The mudslinging, the name-calling, the unsubstantiated charges, the innuendos, the guilt by association, the character assassination, the second hand hearsay, are all tactics exclusively employed by the McGovernites and their apologists."

McGovern, meanwhile, said Republican spokesmen were trying to excuse political espionage and added: "These ambitious men apparently will stop at nothing to preserve their own power. They would undermine the republic to save their White House parking spaces."

The charges grow out of the June 17 break-in and attempted bugging at the Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate complex in Washington and subsequent allegations by McGovern and others that Nixon campaign supporters engaged in widespread espionage activities against the Democrats.

Most of the statements by both political camps centered on the issue Monday with just three weeks remaining until the Nov. 7 election.

One who didn't mention it was President Nixon, who made a surprise appearance before the National League of Families of Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, which was meeting in Washington.

He told the frequently cheering audience that there will be no settlement of the war that "imposes a Communist government on the people of South Vietnam" and "under no conditions will we abandon our prisoners of war and our missing in action."

Sen. McGovern brings a nine-day 11-state campaign tour to a close today with a rally at Fort Worth, Tex., before returning to Washington. He is scheduled to tape a half-hour speech that will be broadcast on national television Friday night.

McGovern campaign spokesmen revealed that he has received a new influx of donations and his campaign is no longer in serious financial difficulty.

Gov. Preston Smith of Texas said after McGovern's campaign there Monday that the election outcome in Texas would be "pretty close."

In other developments: —Gen. Hall, Communist party candidate for president, asked for "the vote of protest" from Americans, saying both Nixon and McGovern support pro-war policies. Hall spoke in a paid political announcement over the National Broadcasting Co. radio network.

—The latest Gallup poll showed President Nixon is preferred by 60 per cent of those polled, to 34 per cent for McGovern, a gain of two points for McGovern.

—Rep. John G. Schmitz, American party presidential candidate, said Nixon adviser Henry Kissinger has taken over foreign policy and directed it "to weaken our friends and strengthen our enemies," he said the recent promotion of Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., a Kissinger aide, shows Kissinger "is now on the point of taking over our armed forces as well."

Court refuses to delay busing order

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The U. S. Supreme Court refused Monday to delay the desegregation busing of nearly 12,000 Memphis school pupils, but indicated that the final shot has yet to be fired in the 10-year-old Memphis controversy.

Mayor Wyeth Chandler said after the high court decision that he will back the city council if it requests that he deny the city school board funds to be used to transport youngsters.

The school board, meanwhile, voted in a stormy session Monday night to award a $750,000 18-month contract for the busing to School Transportation, Inc., of Kansas City, which has said it can meet a Jan. 23 deadline on implementing the order by Judge Robert M. McRae Jr. of U.S. District Court.

The decision to award the contract was on a 6-3 vote. Chandler said regarding the use of city funds for busing, "So far as I am concerned, it would be a violation of the city charter."

He also was critical of the courts, calling them "a judicial oligarchy which rises above the will of the citizens of Memphis and the United States."

Memphis has approximately 140,000 public school pupils and has not previously had any buses or transported any pupils.

Glasgow trial is continuing

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A former Arkansas deputy attorney general returned to the witness stand in his own behalf today after testifying he did not know how about 25 pounds of marijuana got into his automobile.

Roger Allen Glasgow, 30, of Little Rock began testimony Monday at his trial on charges of illegally importing marijuana into the United States from Mexico and of possessing marijuana with the intent to distribute it.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Raul A. Gonzalez rested the prosecution's case earlier Monday after calling eight witnesses, mainly U.S. customs officers, who told of finding marijuana in Glasgow's automobile during a search at the international bridge here Aug. 25.

Glasgow, who is defended by lawyers Thomas G. Sharpe Jr. and Eduardo Rodriguez of Brownsville, claims he does not know how seven packages of newspaper-wrapped marijuana got into his automobile as he wound up a week long trip into the interior of Mexico.

Giving a detailed description of his trip south of the border, Glasgow testified that a mysterious man at Matamoros, just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville, may have been responsible for the marijuana.

The former state official, who has entered private law practice, said the man sat on a bench and appeared to be watching him closely as he and his wife loaded their automobile to leave Matamoros from Brownsville on the return trip.

Glasgow testified that the man watched as he loaded the car with luggage and then left to have breakfast at a Holiday Inn restaurant. He said the man was still seated at the bench 90 minutes later when he and his wife returned to the car.

Although there has been no testimony about it before the jury, it was revealed in court Monday that an informant told government agents that he overheard a conversation in which a man claimed to have "planted" the marijuana in Glasgow's car.

Prosecutor Gonzalez and U. S. customs agent Earl W. Simmons admitted that the information from the informant led to a lengthy investigation after a federal grand jury indicted

Glasgow at Laredo Sept. 18. Simmons told U. S. District Court Judge Reynaldo Garza that he and agent Edward Walther of New Orleans spent about 10 days in Arkansas after the informant said he overheard a man ask another person, "How do you like how we fixed up an Glasgow?"

Gonzalez, who objected to mentioning the incident with newsmen in the courtroom, quickly told Judge Garza that an investigation revealed that the man claimed the marijuana had been placed in a Volkswagen at the hotel garage the night before Glasgow was arrested.

Earlier testimony indicated Glasgow and his wife were in a Ford LTD at the time of the arrest. The Holiday Inn at Matamoros does not have a garage.

Sharpe indicated more would be revealed about what the informant said during the remainder of the defense case, which was expected to take most of today.

Discrimination charges leveled at conference

BRUSSELS (AP) — In no country does a woman earn as much as a man for the same job, says a report prepared for an international conference on equal pay opening today.

The two-day conference was organized by the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions from 22 countries. Marcelle Dehareng, secretary of the ICFTU committee on women workers, told them in her report that the unions are to blame for the sex discrimination.

Supreme Court refuses to hold 'war' hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has refused to hold hearings on two cases related to the war in Southeast Asia, including the question of government control over shipment of newspapers from North Vietnam.

By an 8-1 ruling Monday, the court declined to hear the appeal challenging the constitutionality of government regulations which hold up unsolicited mail until the recipient obtains a government license.

The controls are applied against materials from North Vietnam, North Korea, Cuba and Rhodesia. The case before the court concerned a shipment of copies of "Vietnam Courier," an English-language newspaper published in North Vietnam.

By declining to hear the case, the Supreme Court left standing a ruling by Circuit Court Judge Arlin Adams of Philadelphia that the regulations were "wholly proper" in that their intent was to prevent countries such as North Vietnam from deriving economic benefit from transactions with Americans.

The court also declined to hear an appeal challenging the legality of the Vietnam war because of the way Congress has financed it. Justices William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan dissented in the 7-2 decision.

It was the latest in a series of rulings by the court refusing to consider cases concerning the war.

In one, it agreed to rule on the constitutionality of revenue bonds issued by states to help finance church-affiliated colleges. The test case concerns a challenge to the issuance of $3.5 million in revenue bonds to aid a Baptist College in South Carolina.

The court upheld by a 7-2 vote the constitutionality of a publicly financed remedial education program for a Roman Catholic high school in Nebraska. Justice Brennan, in voting with the majority, said the program is completely independent of the Catholic school administration.

The court also Monday: —Held that federal welfare regulations do not authorize states to prohibit striking workers from receiving assistance. The ruling on the case from Maryland was unanimous.

—Turned down a plea by Memphis school officials for a delay in the scheduled start of busing of 14,000 school children.

—Rejected a plea by the school board in Richmond, Va., for preliminary moves toward the consolidation of the city's mostly black school system with two mostly white suburban school systems.

—Stayed, pending an appeal by the state of Connecticut, a federal court ruling that struck down the state's new abortion law.

—Accepted for review a California case on whether states must justify the levying of a filing fee for political candidates.

—Agreed to hear an appeal from Georgia concerning an apportionment plan for its House of Representatives. At question is whether states must submit apportionment plans covered by the 1965 Voting Rights Law to the U.S. attorney general or a federal court in Washington for approval.

Amtrak service resumes in 30 days of signing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Railroad passenger service in Arkansas will resume within 30 days after President Nixon signs a $9.1 million appropriation for expansion and improvement of the Amtrak system, an Amtrak official said Monday.

Arkansas has been without the service since May 1, 1971. The bill Nixon is expected to sign included $4.1 million for Amtrak operations in Arkansas. The new route will extend from St. Louis through Little Rock and Texarkana en route to Mexico.

Club studies bread making

The Melrose Home Extension Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Perry Henley with six members present. The thought of the month was read by Mrs. Perry Henley.

The eye-opener was given by Mrs. Delmer Wright on how to make a gingham check pin-cushion which also doubles for a toy for tiny tots.

The lesson topic was bread, with the value of bread in the diet discussed. Mrs. Henley demonstrated how to punch down rolls and baked some quick rolls. Other members also gave pointers on how to make good bread without holes.

Mrs. W.A. Powell read an article, "Fann's Findings," explaining how to discern whether advertisements were legitimate or false. She warned to beware of ads that require the sending of money or of those that promise large monetary gains at home.

Roll call was answered by six members "On how I make quick bread."

Mrs. Perry Henley won the door prize and Mrs. W.A. Powell received a pearl pin from her secret pal.

The meeting closed by reading the homemakers prayer.

Refreshments of quick rolls, butter, strawberry, fig preserves, pound cake and ice cream with cakes were served.

The November meeting will be with Mrs. Vera Gough.

Fruit Salad with Strawberry Dressing

STRAWBERRY DRESSING
Strawberry preserves sweeten and flavor this creamy topping.

1/2 cup commercial sour cream
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/3 cup strawberry preserves

Mix together sour cream, mayonnaise and strawberry preserves. Serve at once or store in a covered container in the refrigerator. Makes about 1 cup. Serve with fresh fruit salad; a particularly good mixture is one of cantaloupe, blueberries, banana, apple and peaches or nectarines.

Patterned terry cloth made into tablecloths

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I have five children so am always looking for time and energy savers. Terry cloth now comes in such beautiful bright patterns I have made several tablecloths out of it by simply hemming. These cloths soak up spills, can be washed and dried with the towels. They do not need ironing and can be changed often. More advanced sewers also might make matching curtains, appliance covers, chair covers, etc. I do advise pre-shrinking the material by first washing and drying it.—MRS. R. L. Z.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I would like to know what I can do with a lot of old plastic flowers. I hate to throw them away. Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated.—UNA MAE

DEAR POLLY—I have two Pet Peeves. I really get out of patience when I open a bag of flour and the coupon therein causes the flour to spill all over. Why do people phone, carry on a conversation and expect me to guess who they are? Why don't folks identify themselves right away if they are not relatives or friends whose voices would be familiar? I do hope this will be read by those who can eliminate these peeves.—HELEN

DEAR POLLY—I think I have help for Cecelia who wants to remove a stamped pattern from a sheet. I had some that I had washed and had taken to the dry cleaners for the removal of the inked pattern but with no luck. Finally I discovered that white ballpoint pen ink remover worked like magic with only one application. Do hope this works for her.—MRS. R. B. H.

DEAR POLLY—Leftover pieces of the short-nap indoor-outdoor carpet make fine innersoles for rubber boots. The rubber backing keeps the soles from sliding around and the thickness of this material is most comfortable. Try it, you will like it.—WILLIAM, who wears them.

DEAR POLLY—When I wash my quilted bedspread that has a ruffle around it, I let the spread dry, put it on the bed and then iron it. I first iron the center and then turn the ruffle up on the bed and iron it. This is much easier than trying to iron a big clumsy spread on the ironing board.—MRS. R. E. R.

Here Comes the Ghost!

RAP:
The door to our English classroom just opens and shuts by itself, even when the windows are closed.

Our teacher says it's the ghost of Clyde Moonmaster, and if we don't believe it, check our newspaper.

He says that in 1922, this Latin teacher was driven wild by kids carving on their desks. He could never catch them, but each morning — "Mack the Knife" had struck again. Or maybe Maxine.

Well, one day he came upon a girl digging her boyfriend's initials right by the inkwell.

He got so angry he started strangling her. Everyone yelled and screamed, and that must have made him go bananas. Anyway, the girl died on the way to the hospital, and Clyde Moonmaster was hanged.

When the door opens, our teacher says it's "good old Clyde" coming back to check the desks. I sit near the door and get a strange feeling in the back of my neck. When it closes, I think maybe he's still in the room.

This is supposed to be in the 1922 files of our local paper, but the editor would laugh if I asked him. So would you ask, please? I'm especially anxious because my desk chair has initials

Attends fabric seminar

Hope sales personnel of ready-to-wear and fabrics above, met last night to hear cooperative extension educators discuss current fabric and labeling helps in interest of guiding consumers with selecting and using purchases. The local clerks and managers helped the extension home economist develop the training program by noting questions and problems of consumers. Dr. Ava D. Rodgers, state leader-extension home economics, at left, addressed the group. Other educators assisting with the training are Dr. Mary Cotton, associate professor of home economics, University of Arkansas; Elizabeth Ellis, extension Specialist-household equipment; Cora Lee Guthridge, extension clothing specialist; and Farm Woodward, extension specialist-family economics. Another meeting is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 at the Federal Building.

Iris Club plans dessert bridge

The Hope Iris Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. Richard Arnold.

During the business session Mrs. Olen Nix, president, appointed a planning committee for the dessert bridge to be held Oct. 25 at the Town House. Committee Chairman for the event is Mrs. Harold Stephens, with Mrs. Herbert Cox, Mrs. C.P. Tolleson, and Mrs. A.A. Allbritton serving on the committee.

The dessert bridge is a project of the Council of Garden Clubs.

The club members voted to continue the project of planting pyracantha shrubs around the fence at the Beryl Henry elementary school.

Mrs. Doyle Shields showed slides, narrated by Mrs. John Sunderland, of table arrangements. Mrs. Nix and Mrs. Ardell Clark showed slides taken during their recent travels in London, England and Aspen Colorado.

Mrs. Sunderland and Mrs. Shields tied for first place in the dried flower arrangements.

The hostess served a dessert plate to the members attending.

News from 7-AA

The Magnolia Panthers face only the Hope Bobcats as their last big obstacle to a repeat of the Div. 7AA football championship. The Panthers host the Bobcats this Friday night. Magnolia, fresh from a 24-7 conquest of Malvern, carry a 4-0 league mark against Hope with a 4-1 conference record. Malvern drops into a second place tie with Hope. All other teams have lost two or more conference games.

Statistically Hope cannot match Magnolia but remember last year the Bobcats battle the Panthers strongly before losing 19 to 12.

Other results this past week saw Crossett down Camden 28-0 in loop play; Fairview's Cardinals won their first game of the season 34-6 over Fordyce; Hope ran over Stamps 47-23; Conway edged Arkadelphia 15 to 14, and Ashdown was open.

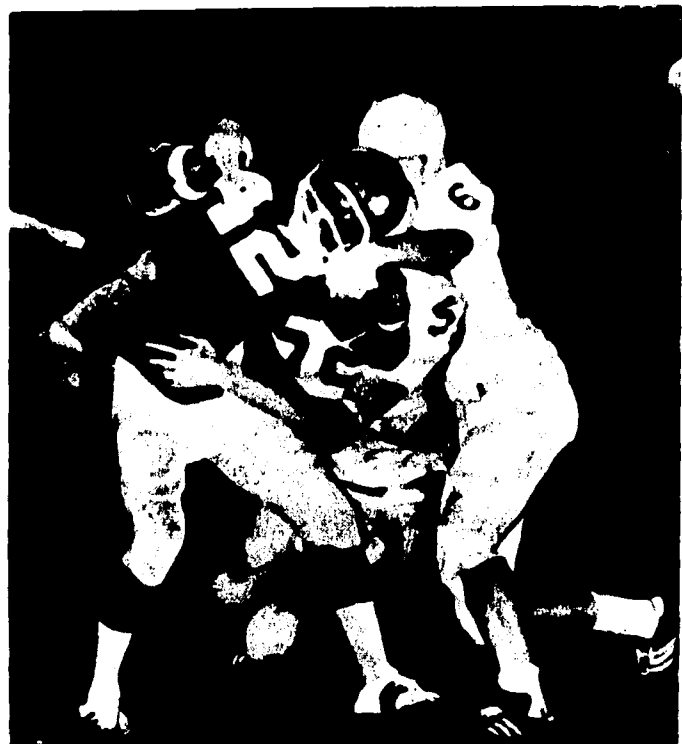

A full slate of conference games are on tap this week. Beside the Hope at Magnolia battle, Arkadelphia travels to Malvern, Ashdown goes to Camden, and Fairview plays at Crossett.

Firing of coach criticized

BALTIMORE (AP) — Center Bill Curry sharply criticized today the firing of Don McCafferty, contending the head coach of the Baltimore Colts had been improperly blamed for the team's losing record.

"Mac is a decent man and a talented coach," Curry said, "and the way he has been treated is a real injustice."

Curry also rapped Joe Thomas, Baltimore's new general manager, who fired McCafferty Monday, replaced him with defensive line coach John Sandusky, and said the Colts would "start of start a new regime with young players."

Noting Thomas had announced that the dismissal of McCafferty was made "for the good of the team," Curry said: "That's the same general manager who hasn't bothered to go around and meet all the guys and learn their names."

Thomas said the youth movement for the Colts, 1-4 for the season, would even affect Johnny Unitas, the 39-year-old quarterback now in his 17th National Football League campaign.

"Marty Domres will play a lot more from now on," Thomas said, "and he could even start."

Curry made his personal views known prior to a scheduled meeting of the entire Colts' squad, following today's practice session, at which a formal team statement was to be drafted.

After a closed door meeting Monday night, attended by 28 of the Colts, Curry said it was decided to delay a team statement until all 47 players could gather at one time. That was impossible to accomplish at the hastily called night session.

Curry noted that McCafferty had directed the Colts to the Super Bowl title as a rookie head coach in 1970, following 11 years as an assistant Baltimore coach, and that his 21-4-1 prior to this season was the best among active NFL coaches.

"Now that we've lost four games, he's been made the scapegoat, and that's wrong," Curry said.

Curry argued that McCafferty had no control over numerous injuries.

Is the Pack back?

DETROIT (AP)—Those rumors that "The Pack is Back" may not be premature speculation after all.

If the Green Bay Packers aren't back as a contending team in the National Football League then why do they own a 4-1 record to stand atop the National Conference Central Division?

Monday night they had a chance to show their stuff before a national television audience, and they used the opportunity to help crack the pessimistic swamis' crystal balls.

Quarterback Scott Hunter fired a 15-yard touchdown strike to rookie wide receiver Leland Glass with just 1:54 left on the clock, and rookie Chester Marcol kicked the extra point, to give the Packers a 24-23 victory.

Green Bay had trailed nearly the entire game before Marcol's closing moment conversion, and the Lions never recovered from the shock.

"To come from behind in a game like this really raises our confidence," Packer Coach Dan Devine said rather quietly afterwards. "But I'm not saying we didn't have confidence in ourselves before this game. We knew we had a good team and this reinforces that."

The teams entered the game tied for first with 3-1 records, with Minnesota third at 2-3 and Chicago last with a 1-3-1 mark. "We always thought we could win it," Devine said of the title. "Now we know we can win it."

The Packers trailed 17-7 at halftime. Then Errol Mann of the Lions and Marcol traded field goals of 45 and 34 yards respectively before Packer cornerback Ken Ellis turned the game around by racing 80 yards with a punt return for a touchdown.

"We're in front now and nobody's going to catch us," said Ellis, a third-year man from Southern University, who seemed the happiest person in the winners' dressing room.

"I don't think Green Bay is a better team than us, but they're a sound team," offered Detroit quarterback Greg Landry, who had two passes intercepted by safety Jim Hill. "One point doesn't make them a better team."

Reds stagger, A's hope for big knockout

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's have staggered the Cincinnati Reds with two quick jabs and now hope to deliver another solid punch in the third game of the World Series tonight.

"I think we have them on the ropes," said Oakland pitcher Vida Blue. "But you can't count the Reds out yet. You can't let up."

The surprising American League champions were sitting pretty with a 2-0 lead in the 1972 baseball classic as a result of a 3-2 and 2-1 victories in Cincinnati over the weekend.

Added to this margin, the A's also had the theoretical advantage of the home field in the next three games of this best-of-seven showdown for the world's championship.

After playing on Riverfront Stadium's unfamiliar artificial surface, the A's returned home to their field of natural grass at the Oakland Coliseum.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson wasn't too happy about its condition, either—the field was soggy from rain and craggy from use by the Oakland Raiders' football team Sunday.

"I thought (Oakland owner) Charles Finley had more class than this," said Anderson whose team's running game obviously would be hurt by the slow conditions.

In addition, the possibility of stormy weather threatened to further muddle the situation at the Coliseum, where a sell-out crowd of 30,000 will watch the struggle. The National Weather Bureau forecast a 30 per cent chance of showers for the contest, which starts at 8:15 p.m., EDT.

The situation has got the A's brimful of confidence.

"We're handling the Reds easier than we did the Texas Rangers," said Blue, referring to one of the patsy American League teams.

Oakland Manager Dick Williams was naturally optimistic about finishing off the National Leaguers in his cozy Coliseum.

Freshman is backing up OB post

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Texas Christian Coach Billy Tohill plucked star freshman Ronnie Littleton out of the backfield and put him at quarterback Monday to help the thin Horned Frog signal caller position.

Tohill had only Perry Senn, who directed TCU to a 35-9 victory Saturday over Tulsa, to call on after No. 1 quarterback Kent Marshall suffered a broken collar bone in the first quarter against the Hurricane.

The TCU mentor had already moved sophomore quarterback Terry Drennan to safety after Harold Muckleroy was lost for the season with a head injury.

Marshall, a junior, will not be available for the rest of the year.

"We think Ronnie can provide the depth we need so importantly," Tohill said. "He has not taken a snap in college but he ran the Wishbone attack at Wichita Falls."

"We could have moved Drennan back to offense but we need him too much in the secondary. Right now, Senn is definitely our No. 1 quarterback. He did a tremendous job coming off the bench against Tulsa."

Senn ran for one touchdown and threw a pass for another. He directed four Horned Frog scoring drives.

TCU meets the Texas Aggies Saturday night in College Station. Both teams have suffered a conference loss and another defeat means elimination from the Southwest Conference race.

In Austin, Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he was proud of his team's defensive effort against Oklahoma despite a 27-0 loss.

"Those defensive kids can walk with their heads held high and not apologize to anybody," he said. "We needed a fanatical effort and we got it. I couldn't ask the defense to do any more."

Royal said the Texas offense was "anemic."

A's owner gives 'incentive bonus' to three players

OAKLAND (AP) — Charles O. Finley, maverick of major league owners locked horns with baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn Tuesday in a dispute over whether Finley can increase salaries of Oakland A's players at this stage of the season.

"I don't give any bonuses, just raises," Finley said after being handed a statement released by the commissioner on the eve of the third game of the World Series between the A's and the Cincinnati Reds.

Finley referred to $5,000 salary increases three of the Oakland A's received in the 10 days

While the A's were en route to Detroit on Oct. 8 for the start of the American League playoffs Finley announced first baseman Mike Hagan had received a $5,000 salary boost but he didn't say it was a salary increase. He said it was a bonus.

And he announced somewhere between Cincinnati and Oakland that Joe Rudi and Gene Tenace were making $5,000 more. Again he didn't say it was a salary increase but maybe he didn't call it a bonus, either.

Rudi made a sensational catch Monday at the left field wall on a hit by Cincinnati's Denis Menke. It kept the Reds from tying the game and the A's won 2-1.

Tenace, who hit only five home runs all season, smashed two homers in the opener Saturday and was the hero of Oakland's 3-2 triumph.

"They were not bonuses. They were retroactive salary increases," Finley told newsmen during a party hosted at the Oakland Coliseum.

The rules of baseball strictly prohibit performance or incentive bonuses.

"I have read Mr. Finley's statements regarding special payments to certain Oakland players," said a statement from Kuhn. "I have discussed the matter with Mr. Finley. I will have no statement to make regarding this subject until after the World Series. In the meantime, Mr. Finley has assured me the entire matter will be held in status quo."

Asked what the statement meant, Finley only shrugged.

Asked if he felt the commissioner and those who run baseball were out to embarrass him, Finley smiled and replied: "You said that. I didn't. I have no comment."

The $ signs flash in different sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Bench earns $82,500 a year as supercatcher of the Cincinnati Reds. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar makes about $82,500 a month during the Milwaukee Bucks' basketball season.

Pro basketball's salaries make virtual amateurs of affluent heroes from other sports despite a two-league war that is skyrocketing hockey paychecks.

Football and baseball stars, many of them living on less than $100,000 a year, suffer by comparison.

Jabbar's incredible $400,000 deal with Milwaukee—and you wonder why they call them the Bucks?—is trailed handsomely by Walt Frazier's $350,000 from the New York Knicks and Jerry West's $300,000 from the Los Angeles Lakers.

Charlie Scott, two years out of the University of North Carolina, jumped from the American Basketball Association to the rival National Association's Phoenix Suns and his fee hit the $300,000 class.

Wilt Chamberlain, a bachelor with a $1 million hilltop castle, read about teammate West's new contract and decided to hold out for renegotiation of his $250,000 salary. He finally was given more than $300,000.

After all, electric bills and maid service are expensive these days.

Remember George Mikan? The former DePaul great was voted the top player in basketball for the first half of the 20th Century, including a brilliant stint with the Minneapolis Lakers.

Mikan, an early giant at 6 feet-10, finally managed to make $20,000 a year in the late 1940s.

And how about Bill Russell? His rookie contract with the Boston Celtics was $20,000 in 1956, about the same as Jabbar hauls down for a week of NBA play.

Chamberlain got $65,000 as a rookie with the Philadelphia Warriors in 1959-60 and in three seasons later rose to $100,000. Boston, not to let Russell be embarrassed, came up with $100,001.

Basketball has many other high-salaried members, including Pete Maravich of Atlanta, $325,000 per year; Austin Carr of Cleveland, $250,000 and Spencer Haywood of Seattle, and Jim McDaniels, who jumped from the ABA to Seattle, $300,000 each.

The expected ABA-NBA merger will curb such high salaries in the future, but—for this era at least—if you're tall, fast, accurate and smooth, you're also a millionaire.

A current bidding scuffle between the established National Hockey League and the infant, but well-bankrolled World Hockey Association, has made several hockey players instantly wealthy.

Bobby Hull, the famed "Golden Jet" of the Chicago Black Hawks, was hired at age 32 in a 10-year, $2.7 million player-coach-executive deal by the WHA's Winnipeg Jets.

Derek Sanderson, hockey's flashy answer to football swinger Joe Namath, left the Stanley Cup champion Boston Bruins for the new Philadelphia Blazers and $300,000.

Meanwhile, Bruin ace Bobby Orr and several other NHL standouts have, as a result of the competition, bagged $1 million deals with their clubs.

Joe Namath is pro football's biggest moneymaker with a $250,000 paycheck from the well-heeled New York Jets, and John Brodie, if the salary guessers are close, makes something like $160,000 with the San Francisco 49ers.

The National Football League has quite a few superstars in the $100,000 range, including O. J. Simpson, Len Dawson, John Unitas, Jim Plunkett, Archie Manning, Fran Tarkenton and Roman Gabriel.

But, few make more than $100,000 and the NFL Players Association complains that its brothers deserve a larger share of the 26 teams' gross revenue.

The average NFL quarterback makes $41,500. By position, it drops to a $25,500 average for defensive backs and $22,500 for specialists. Not bad, but far below the average salary of $65,000 earned by basketball's New York Knicks.

Baseball got its first $200,000-a-year performer when Hank Aaron, currently chasing Babe Ruth's career record of 714 home runs, was signed to a three-year pact in 1971 by the Atlanta Braves.

However, the Babe's incredible $80,000 salary in 1926 was—in the pre-income tax era, probably worth more than Jabbar's current $400,000 deal.

Carl Yastrzemski is a $167,000 player for the Boston Red Sox, while in the $150,000 class are Willie Mays of the New York Mets, Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh and Bob Gibson of St. Louis.

These are the team sports, men who are guaranteed their money whether they perform well this year or not. In individual endeavors, the huge paydays are there, but it's almost always on a performance-or-else basis.

With all this in mind, the modern father doesn't quite know what to do with his young son.

Should he train his hitting eye? Develop a golf swing? Learn to dunk a basketball?

Loretta Lynn: 'You're looking at country'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Loretta Lynn gazed at the Grand Ole Opry audience and, with a proud smile and a southern drawl, told them, "When you're lookin' at me, you're lookin' at country."

And by the time country music's sixth annual awards show ended Monday night, Miss Lynn had walked off stage with three top honors, including entertainer of the year and female vocalist of the year.

She became the first woman ever honored with the Country Music Association's entertainer of the year accolade. When asked if her honors represented a victory for women's liberation, the striking brunette said:

"What? I really don't know what you're talking about. I'm still in shock." A coal miner's daughter from Kentucky, Miss Lynn, 36, entered country music 10 years ago. Her last CMA award was in 1967, as top female vocalist.

The third award for Miss Lynn was presented to her and singing partner Conway Twitty for best duo of the year.

Top male vocalist was black artist Charley Pride, 34, a former professional baseball player from Mississippi. Last year, Pride attained national acclaim when he captured the vocalist and the entertainer of the year award, the first black to do so.

Donna Fargo, a former Los Angeles high school teacher and a new face on the country music scene, topped the best single of the year for "Happiest Girl in the Whole USA." She sang the song for the Opryhouse crowd on live nationwide television.

A former entertainer of the year and top male vocalist in 1970, Merle Haggard of Bakersfield, Calif., won best album for "Let Me Tell You About A Song."

For the fourth consecutive year, Danny Davis and the Nashville Brass, captured best instrumental group. Best instrumentalist was harmonica player Charlie McCoy. And best vocal group was the Statler Brothers.

Top song of the year was "Easy Loving" by Freddie Hart. Named to the CMA's Hall of Fame was former two-time Louisiana Gov. Jimmie Davis, who drew the evening's only standing ovation.

U.S. servicemen. But he denied that it espouses violence.

Jimmie Williams, 22, employed as a job counselor at the Illinois State Employment Service, said Monday that thousands of black soldiers in Vietnam and U.S. military bases in other parts of the world belong to the organization, which he described as the "Black Panther party of the military."

Six young men who police allege are members of the group are charged in connection with the slayings of nine whites.

Williams emphasized that De Mau Mau is not a terrorist group but admitted that a few members became increasingly violent in their actions and extreme in their views as the Vietnam war continued.

He said the group is made up of blacks, Chicanos, Puerto Ricans and American Indians and was originally formed to combat racial persecution.

Earlier, Malcolm X President Charles G. Hurst Jr., and Barry Wright, national commander of the Concerned Veterans of Vietnam, assailed police allegations that the three former students were involved with a gang motivated by racial hatred and committed to violence.

Who stole his blimp. His blimp?

PEARLAND, Tex. (AP) — Frank Wolf is offering $500 for the arrest and conviction of the person who stole his blimp.

Wolf's latest creation—he built's blimps as a hobby when he isn't running his etching shop and is now on his third—disappeared sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday. All 34 feet of it.

Police in this Houston suburb found the blimp later Sunday, stretched out along a road five miles out of town with its top ripped and the helium which lifts it gone.

Wolf said the latest blimp cost him between $3,000 and $5,000 to build. He plans a fourth. This one will be large enough to carry a passenger aloft—a monkey.

Regulation change for Arkansas G&FC

The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, meeting in regular session September 25, 26, 1972, rescinded the one-half day waterfowl hunting regulation on the Bois d'Arc Wildlife Management Area and approved the regulation to allow all day waterfowl hunting on the area. The entire area will be open to all-day hunting, excluding Bois d'Arc Lake. Bois d'Arc Lake will remain closed until the last three days of waterfowl season when it will be open to all day hunting.

Nixon widens electoral lead

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In NEA's second 1972 electoral count survey President Nixon's indicated lead over Sen. George McGovern is 489 votes to 27, with 270 needed for election. The margin in the first survey last month was 462 to 27.

The President's gain comes from picking up part of the 49 votes listed last time as doubtful. The latter category is reduced to 22 in the newest nationwide sampling.

The judgments are arrived at by telephone checking, coast to coast, with knowledgeable and reliable political figures and analysts.

While Nixon is this time awarded Wisconsin, Missouri and Rhode Island from the doubtful list, giving him a present edge in 44 states, McGovern remains static with just three and the District of Columbia. Minnesota, Connecticut and Hawaii are rated doubtful, though it can be argued that Nixon has a borderline margin in all.

The Nixon increase is indicated despite the fact that national polls show a modest narrowing of the huge gap between himself and McGovern. Furthermore, NEA's survey brought forth frequent comment in various states that McGovern's status had shown improvement. State-level efforts in his behalf seem in many places to be better organized.

Nevertheless, these changes were never described as either substantial or massive. "Modest but important" was the word from one analyst in a large eastern state. Next door to it, a Democratic politician spoke of party regulars' earlier hostility to McGovern and added:

"Now they're at least indifferent, and that's an improvement."

What it comes down to, generally, is that the improvement is expressed in terms of smoothing out relations between young McGovern forces and the regulars, helping to rack up heavy registration totals presumed to benefit McGovern, getting under way with hordes of young volunteers on the door-to-door foot canvassing that served Mc-Govern well in primaries.

Here and there, too, there are credible reports that some Democratic defectors may be returning to the party fold. National polls tend to substantiate this.

Most reports suggest it is the effect of the party's pull, of old Democratic voting habit reasserting itself as balloting time nears. The stunning aspect of that evidence is that McGovern seems to be having no magnetic effect at all—that personally he is still perceived in negative ways.

To be as harsh about it as many voters and politicians are, McGovern is again and again described as indecisive, incompetent and un-presidential.

In most instances, where in-state sources reported "improvement" in McGovern's status, they wound up by saying it might well come to naught unless the candidate himself "catches fire nationally."

With less than a month to go and the negative view of him said by many sources to be set in concrete, it is difficult to see where McGovern can find the igniting spark even his ardent partisans say he needs. The NEA survey ticked off plenty of doubts, but not a single instance of a claim that McGovern truly has "taken off" on a critical rise.

Even the states given to McGovern in this report, Massachusetts, West Virginia and South Dakota, have been shaky for him.

Still, the news for him is not all black. Veteran observers feel he probably will firm up his hold on Massachusetts and West Virginia, could well take doubtful Connecticut, Minnesota and Hawaii, and may even grab a few key states away from presently leading Nixon. These could include Maryland, Wisconsin, Missouri, and California, most special of all with its great bag of 45 electoral votes.

The California story is puzzling. Both the polls and the best analysts there say Nixon is leading today, but by a much smaller margin than in such places as Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey, and even New York and Michigan (these two won by Humphrey in 1968).

Since the record from 1948 on shows persuasively that the seven largest northern industrial states tend to vote in surprising conformity with each other in presidential elections, the question this time is why should California be different — if in fact it is.

There could be misreadings there, or in all the other big states. It could also be

Marine Band scheduled to perform at LR

The United States Marine Band will perform in Little Rock on Tuesday, Nov. 7, it was announced by the Optimist Club of Greater Little Rock.

Known as "The President's Own," the Marine Band will appear in two performances — at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. — at Barton Coliseum. W.C. Taylor, president of the sponsoring Optimist Club, said that the matinee and evening concerts will feature musical works of the world's finest composers, stirring marches and solo performers who have brought the Marine Band acclaim from visiting dignitaries from almost every country in the world.

Under the direction of Lt. Col. Dale Harpham, the Marine Band is known to millions of Americans through its annual tours, its frequent radio and television appearances, and its concert series in the Nation's Capital. The annual tour, which includes Little Rock, for the first time this year, is Presidentially approved. These tours were originated in 1891 under the direction of John Philip Sousa.

The Marine Band was begun in 1798 by an Act of Congress and has played for all official functions in the Nation's Capital and for all history-making events in this country.

The Arkansas appearance will benefit various charitable organizations in addition to the

It was given the title, "The President's Own" by Thomas Jefferson.

People in the News

DUBLIN (AP) — President John F. Kennedy's 73-year-old Irish cousin is barring the public from her home where Kennedy's great-grandfather was born because she wants "a little bit of peace in my last years."

"I'd rather people remembered Jack and Robert in their prayers without tramping through my place," Mary Ryan said Monday. "How would Mrs. Rose Kennedy like to be welcomed at four in the morning with a busload of tourists wanting to come around the place?"

The little farmhouse is in Dunganstown, County Wexford. Kennedy visited there in 1963 and had tea with Mrs. Ryan. Since then there have been more than 100,000 visitors.

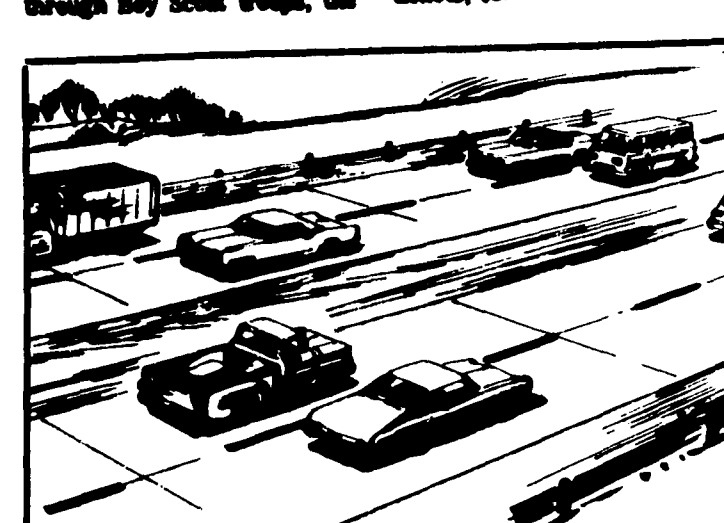

Mrs. Ryan said she did not charge the tourists but did sell a few souvenirs that "only paid the cost."

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Television comedian Andy Griffith has been divorced after a 23-year marriage.

Superior Court approved a property settlement Monday but didn't disclose the terms. Barbara Griffith, 45, whose suit charged irreconcilable differences, will have custody of the couple's 13-year-old daughter, Dixie. The 44-year-old actor will have custody of their son, Andy 14.

BATTLEFIELD - U.S.A.

According to the National Safety Council, highway deaths rose to 55,000 in 1971, more than all American fatalities in 9 years of fighting in Viet Nam. Along with 5 million injuries, the highway economic bill totalled almost 17 billion dollars.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

AP Newsfeatures
Q. — I have recently taken up woodcarving as a hobby. I do not know of any local organization interested in this skill. Is there any national outfit which is interested in new members?

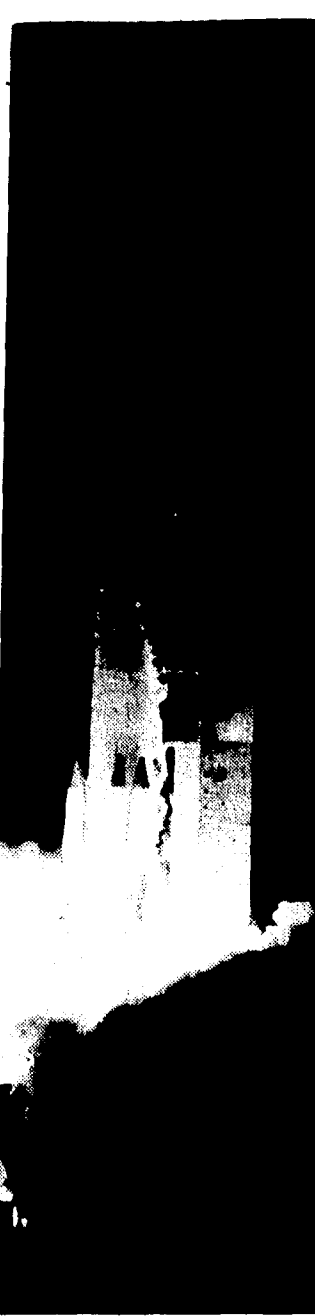

A. — The National Carvers Museum of Chicago is a non-profit foundation incorporated to foster and develop the understanding of woodcarving. Memberships are available at a nominal fee. For further information, send a self-addressed, large envelope to National Carvers Museum Foundation, 7835 South Claremont Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60630.

Q. — We are having a new house built. When we asked the builder to suggest a long-lasting roof, he recommended either terne metal or terne-coated stainless. What's the difference between the two and how long do they last?

A. — Terne metal is a prime copper-bearing steel, coated with an alloy of 80 per cent lead and 20 per cent tin. It requires painting, preceded by a base coat (usually of red iron oxide). Paint renewal is necessary about every 8 or 10 years. Terne-coated stainless is a nickel-chrome stainless steel covered on both sides with terne alloy, the same 80 per cent lead, 20 per cent tin combination as previously mentioned. It does not need painting, as the surfaces weather to a uniform dark gray, but can be painted if desired. Terne-coated stainless is higher in cost than terne. Both materials have an indefinite life.

Q. — I understand there is an easy way to tell if the pushbutton outside the house is at fault when the bell on the inside fails to ring. Can you tell me what it is?

A. — Take out the one or two screws that hold the pushbutton gadget to the wall outside the door. If one of the wires connected to the pushbutton is loose from its terminal screw, you probably have located the trouble instantly. Merely reconnect the wire and the bell should ring when the button is pushed. If both wires are solidly attached, disconnect them. Then either touch the two wire ends together or bridge them with a screwdriver blade. Either of these actions may cause the bell to ring. If it does, then the pushbutton itself is out of order and a new one should be purchased.

If you can keep from looking at East and West cards, do so. You are in six spades in a match point duplicate game. Don't worry about how you got there. Jeff Rubens doesn't give any bidding in his book and we aren't going to give any here.

Some slams that should be bid when all cards are seen are almost impossible to bid at the table and this is one of them. North and South only have 27 high-card points and neither player has a singleton or a six-card suit.

Anyway, there you are in six and a heart is opened. You win in dummy and lead the three of spades. East plays the deuce.

At this point you have a sure-thing play for your contract if you play a low trump. That is, it is sure unless West wins the trick with a singleton jack or king and gives his partner a ruff. This can happen, but it is so unlikely that you don't consider it.

Rubens says to play the low trump and he is eminently correct. This play costs you an overtrick if West holds the singleton king of spades but it saves your contract if East holds the king and jack of spades in addition to the deuce he has already played.

The chance of a singleton king is greater but you are in such a good contract that you want to apply the rubber bridge principle of safety.

ASTRO-GRAPH

BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, Oct. 17

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): You would accomplish a lot, working in unison with another. Don't mix-in money—it could spell trouble.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): Use your imagination and concentration for work affecting you personally. Keep thoughts to yourself or you'll wind up with a nervous partner.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Take a chance on your own ideas. Even if your approach is unconventional, if you're satisfied it's logical give it a go.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your dealings with outsiders should produce the type of results you desire. Speculative involvement, however, is a no-no.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): Don't delay getting in touch with a friend or acquaintance you feel could help you. Communication tends to benefit you today.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): Use initiative and resourcefulness in tasks that face you today. A clever idea could put you in the profit column.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): Stand up for what you believe to be fair. Your image gains luster with a tactful display of courage.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): Petty pressures could make you a little edgy and irritable. Keeping things in perspective will smooth-out your day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): You won't be satisfied sitting home alone. Get out into the mainstream—mix with friends and neighbors. It's to your advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): Your words carry more weight than usual. You're in a favorable cycle for making a good move.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): Some of your long-awaited plans should now look more promising. Keep your eye on the target. Ride your luck.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): There are some changes in the wind working in harmony with your purposes. Should be a pleasant day.

Four more killed in N. Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — British troops killed four more persons in Northern Ireland Monday as the government went ahead with plans to hold the first elections in five years in the embattled province.

Bloody Protestant riots in the streets of Belfast, apparently spurred by the planned Dec. 6 election, resulted in the "accidental deaths" of a man and a 15-year-old youth, official spokesmen said.

Other troops killed two gunmen at a roadblock near a country village.

The deaths pushed the confirmed toll in more than three years to 610 dead.

A military spokesman said the youth was killed when an army patrol vehicle pursued by angry Protestants smashed through a barricade. He said the mob hurled heavy metal cans at vehicle.

The second Belfast death came when an armored car mounted the pavement and decapitated a 26-year-old man.

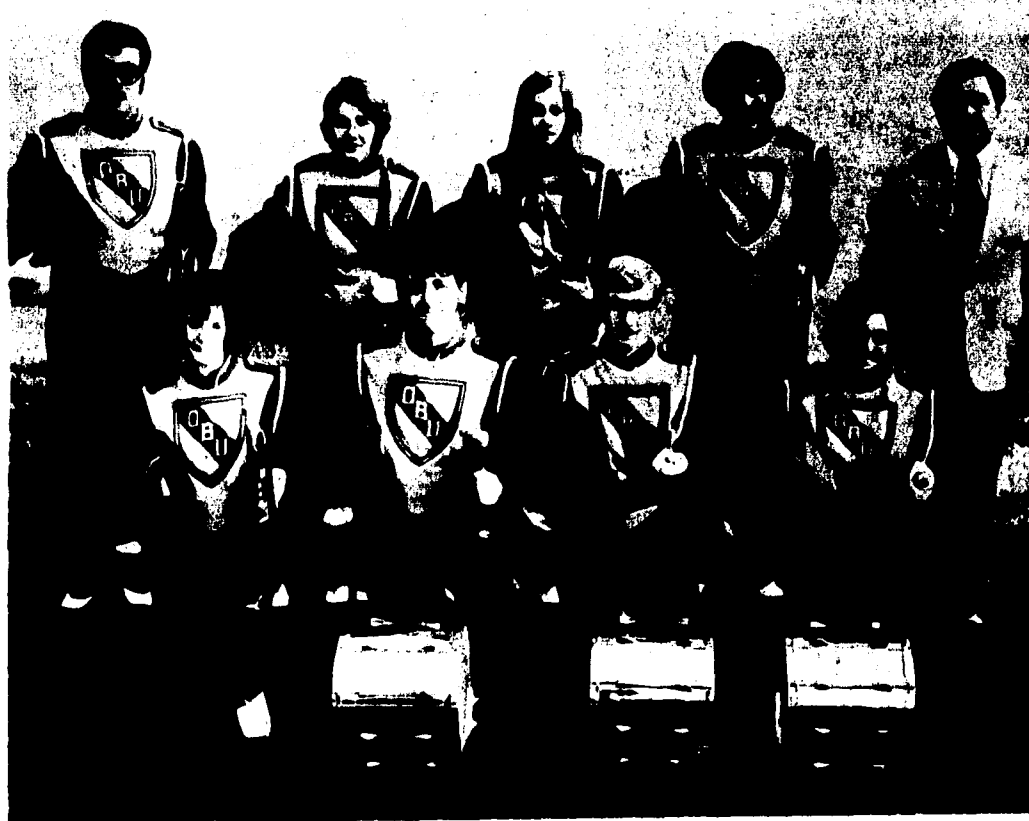

As the riots raged, gunmen opened fire on troops. The soldiers fired back and claimed to have hit one assailant. Five civilians and 15 troops were injured in the clashes and 30 arrests were made.

The Ulster Defense Association (UDA), a Protestant vigilante group, angrily announced that "the British Army and the British government are now our enemies. We are calling on all loyalists to withdraw all cooperation from the Army and the Whitelaw administration."

William Whitelaw, Britain's chief administrator in Northern Ireland, announced local elections in the province for Dec. 6.

1 is killed, 2 wounded in Buenos Aires blast

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A bomb in a 22nd-floor room of the new Sheraton Hotel killed a Canadian woman Monday night and gravely wounded her husband and a Massachusetts woman.

Supporters of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron were blamed. Smoke and fire belched from the jagged hole in the southeast wing of the steel and concrete building after the blast at dusk.

Nearly 700 guests fled into the streets, but the fire was quickly brought under control and did not spread.

A chain of bombings burst across Argentina Monday as Peronist guerrillas marked their leader's ascendancy to power 27 years ago. The only other casualties reported in the rash of explosions were a navy captain and a neighbor wounded when a bomb went off in front of the officer's house in a Buenos Aires suburb.

Some 500 university students moved into downtown Buenos Aires late Monday, distributed pro-Peron leaflets and tried to block the streets but police dispersed them.

Les Bolton guest at Hope Lions Club

Hope Lions had an interesting program Monday during the weekly luncheon at the Town and Country Restaurant.

Les Bolton, administrative aide for the Employment Security division in Little Rock spoke to the group and presented a film on the work of the Employment Security Division.

Bolton, known throughout the state from his twenty-seven years association with KARK Radio and TV as a newscaster, became interested in the work of the ESD when KARK (Channel 4) sponsored and inaugurated a mobile labor office. This experience led to Bolton's connection with ESD.

The film, one of the best promotional films seen here, was made in Arkansas by Arkansans using business people and staff members of ESD offices.

Gov. Bumpers introduced the film and endorsed the producing of the film.

The main thrust of ESD is to place the right people in the right jobs and through records and computers are very efficient. The unemployment insurance program is next in scope and the film listed other functions that space does not allow in this report.

Lion Paul McClelland of the local ESD office arranged the program for chairman Bill Cappa. Bill Etter, Jr. was the guest of Lion Bill Etter; Roger Nunn, Prudential Life representative, was the guest of Lion Olen Overturf.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

What can be done for gout?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I keep getting attacks from the gout and it usually hits my ankles. I've been going to a doctor about a year or longer and he gives me some pills to take when it occurs. I'm 50 years old and it started about five years ago. I need to know what I can eat and drink. Sometimes I get it when I've been drinking and other times I get it even if I haven't had anything to drink. I'm just plain stumped. I don't have a regular doctor now since he moved out of the state. Could you please help me? I need it very much.

Dear Reader — Yes, I can help you. Get yourself a new doctor as soon as possible. You'll need regular supervision. While dietary control helps a little bit in some people with gout, individuals who have recurring attacks should be taking medicine since even the strictest dietary control doesn't accomplish enough.

Individuals who have attacks of gouty arthritis need medicine all the time and not just for the attacks. The idea is to take medicines regularly to prevent the attacks in the first place.

You also need to take medicine to prevent the later development of gouty arthritis, which is not like the acute attacks, but which can cause deformity of the joints. Without medicine there may be a slow accumulation of deposits in the joints that causes chronic gouty arthritis. Alcohol and dietary binges often precipitate an acute attack as do emotional factors and some other aspects of living, but prevention of these attacks doesn't obviate the point that you need to be taking medicine regularly and this means that you need a doctor.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like to know if it is necessary for a woman 63 years old who has had a hysterectomy and has been a widow for seven years to have a Pap smear every year. (Only the womb is out.) I have had four children and have been retired one year.

Dear Reader — If your doctor who has been giving you your examinations thinks so, I believe you should continue to do so. There are different ways of doing a hysterectomy and it's not clear what you mean by having only the womb out. Actually the complete uterus consists of the body of the uterus and the cervix. For an analogy, you can think of it like a fruit jar. The body of the uterus is the main part of the jar
